About the Workshop

The Classic collection brings together designs that have remained in production over decades. These pieces represent a continuity of form, proportion and craftsmanship that defines Pedret Lighting.
All products are manufactured in our own workshop, working closely with local suppliers and long-standing artisans. Production is based on traditional processes and hands-on work, with each piece made individually.

Polished brass is a living material. Small pores, subtle marks or fine irregularities may appear on the surface as a natural expression of cast brass and manual finishing. These features are not imperfections, but traces of the material itself — evidence of authenticity and traditional craftsmanship.

Slight variations in dimensions, finishes or surface texture are a natural part of handcrafted production.

On Visual Representation

The images in this catalogue combine real photography, 3D rendering and AI-assisted visualisation within a coherent visual language.

Some scenes are digitally created in order to show proportions, finish combinations and large-scale compositions that are not always feasible to photograph.

Regardless of the visual environment, each product is represented faithfully in terms of design, materials and construction.
